

Most truckers now use satellite radio. They spend on average 70 hours a week traveling the nations roads. The ability to get updated local weather information is critical to the safety of these drivers.